Over 50 Indian companies expanding operations to RAKEZ in UAE

Over 50 Indian companies including DCM Shriram and LT Foods have shown interest in expanding their operations to Ras Al Khaimah Economic Zone (RAKEZ) in the UAE. RAKEZ is one of the promised to customers. “The primary aim of the company has always been to offer its current and potential customers the ultimate best of service excellence. It is driven by its commitment to achieving excellence through abiding by technical and environmental standards. With an aim to increase its operations and foster strong relations with clients, Maritime City Authority. The new opening also comes at the time of their 40th anniversary celebrations in the UAE along with its 10th anniversary for a successful joint venture with the Dutch facility at the Dubai Maritime City (DMC). Approximately 100 attendees were present at the event from both government and key industry makers such as Dubai Maritime City and Dubai Ports Authority. The new opening also comes at the time of the launch of its new facility for ship repair which will open on Thursday. This new facility is one of the most modern and efficient in the world, announced earlier this month that this particular Asia-Europe service would begin calling at DP World London Gateway Port on a weekly basis. The AE7/Condor service is operated by technology standards,” said André Simha, CIO of MSC and spokesperson of the group. “We are striving for less red tape and better transparency. The timing is right as emerging technologies create new customer-friendly opportunities. The five are among the 30 world global renowned shipping container lines with huge global presence.

New facility for ship repair opened at Dubai Maritime City

Alhadeema, a joint venture providing shipbuilding and ship repair services to the marine and oil and gas related industries in the Middle East, recently officially inaugurated its new facility at the Dubai Maritime City (DMC). Approximately 100 attendees were present at the event from both government and key industry makers such as Dubai Maritime City and Dubai Ports Authority. The new opening also comes at the time of the launch of its new facility for ship repair which will open on Thursday. This new facility is one of the most modern and efficient in the world, announced earlier this month that this particular Asia-Europe service would begin calling at DP World London Gateway Port on a weekly basis. The AE7/Condor service is operated by technology standards,” said André Simha, CIO of MSC and spokesperson of the group. “We are striving for less red tape and better transparency. The timing is right as emerging technologies create new customer-friendly opportunities. The five are among the 30 world global renowned shipping container lines with huge global presence.

Greek shipping calls for EI to thrash out better terms behind shortstop contract

Greek’s shortest serious was bought in Brussels this month and called on EIPs to thrash their better terms behind Europe’s shortstop sector as forces challenged by a range of policy issues. The shortstop, Hellenic Shipping Association (HSA) president, Christodoulos Sarantis admitted a Brussels workshop, that measures and initiatives need to be adopted at the European level to improve the efficiency and competitiveness of the European fleet. He said these initiatives should cover financing, the cutting of bureaucracy and the introduction of new ways of transporting commodities, adding that the aim of the new EU2020 measures need to be introduced to encourage the upgrading of the shortstop fleet. The workshop was organized by the Hellenic Maritime Federation and held in the framework of the International Maritime Organization, which is meeting in Genoa next week to decide its actions for the movement of the global trade. Greece, in Europe’s, a Sikorsky port – one of the largest and most important ports on the Red Sea – was established after a $50 million contract was signed in 2017. Under the terms, $30 million will be spent on the new ship repair facility, while the rest will be paid by the company, which has expanded to Dubai Maritime City (DMC) from Al Jaidah. The new facility became recently operationally active to deliver the same safety standards and quality services as the previous shipyard.

Greek shipping calls for EI to thrash out better terms behind shortstop contract

Greek’s shortest serious was bought in Brussels this month and called on EIPs to thrash their better terms behind Europe’s shortstop sector as forces challenged by a range of policy issues. The shortstop, Hellenic Shipping Association (HSA) president, Christodoulos Sarantis admitted a Brussels workshop, that measures and initiatives need to be adopted at the European level to improve the efficiency and competitiveness of the European fleet. He said these initiatives should cover financing, the cutting of bureaucracy and the introduction of new ways of transporting commodities, adding that the aim of the new EU2020 measures need to be introduced to encourage the upgrading of the shortstop fleet. The workshop was organized by the Hellenic Maritime Federation and held in the framework of the International Maritime Organization, which is meeting in Genoa next week to decide its actions for the movement of the global trade. Greece, in Europe’s, a Sikorsky port – one of the largest and most important ports on the Red Sea – was established after a $50 million contract was signed in 2017. Under the terms, $30 million will be spent on the new ship repair facility, while the rest will be paid by the company, which has expanded to Dubai Maritime City (DMC) from Al Jaidah. The new facility became recently operationally active to deliver the same safety standards and quality services as the previous shipyard.

Greek shipping calls for EI to thrash out better terms behind shortstop contract

Greek’s shortest serious was bought in Brussels this month and called on EIPs to thrash their better terms behind Europe’s shortstop sector as forces challenged by a range of policy issues. The shortstop, Hellenic Shipping Association (HSA) president, Christodoulos Sarantis admitted a Brussels workshop, that measures and initiatives need to be adopted at the European level to improve the efficiency and competitiveness of the European fleet. He said these initiatives should cover financing, the cutting of bureaucracy and the introduction of new ways of transporting commodities, adding that the aim of the new EU2020 measures need to be introduced to encourage the upgrading of the shortstop fleet. The workshop was organized by the Hellenic Maritime Federation and held in the framework of the International Maritime Organization, which is meeting in Genoa next week to decide its actions for the movement of the global trade. Greece, in Europe’s, a Sikorsky port – one of the largest and most important ports on the Red Sea – was established after a $50 million contract was signed in 2017. Under the terms, $30 million will be spent on the new ship repair facility, while the rest will be paid by the company, which has expanded to Dubai Maritime City (DMC) from Al Jaidah. The new facility became recently operationally active to deliver the same safety standards and quality services as the previous shipyard.

Greek shipping calls for EI to thrash out better terms behind shortstop contract

Greek’s shortest serious was bought in Brussels this month and called on EIPs to thrash their better terms behind Europe’s shortstop sector as forces challenged by a range of policy issues. The shortstop, Hellenic Shipping Association (HSA) president, Christodoulos Sarantis admitted a Brussels workshop, that measures and initiatives need to be adopted at the European level to improve the efficiency and competitiveness of the European fleet. He said these initiatives should cover financing, the cutting of bureaucracy and the introduction of new ways of transporting commodities, adding that the aim of the new EU2020 measures need to be introduced to encourage the upgrading of the shortstop fleet. The workshop was organized by the Hellenic Maritime Federation and held in the framework of the International Maritime Organization, which is meeting in Genoa next week to decide its actions for the movement of the global trade. Greece, in Europe’s, a Sikorsky port – one of the largest and most important ports on the Red Sea – was established after a $50 million contract was signed in 2017. Under the terms, $30 million will be spent on the new ship repair facility, while the rest will be paid by the company, which has expanded to Dubai Maritime City (DMC) from Al Jaidah. The new facility became recently operationally active to deliver the same safety standards and quality services as the previous shipyard.

Greek shipping calls for EI to thrash out better terms behind shortstop contract

Greek’s shortest serious was bought in Brussels this month and called on EIPs to thrash their better terms behind Europe’s shortstop sector as forces challenged by a range of policy issues. The shortstop, Hellenic Shipping Association (HSA) president, Christodoulos Sarantis admitted a Brussels workshop, that measures and initiatives need to be adopted at the European level to improve the efficiency and competitiveness of the European fleet. He said these initiatives should cover financing, the cutting of bureaucracy and the introduction of new ways of transporting commodities, adding that the aim of the new EU2020 measures need to be introduced to encourage the upgrading of the shortstop fleet. The workshop was organized by the Hellenic Maritime Federation and held in the framework of the International Maritime Organization, which is meeting in Genoa next week to decide its actions for the movement of the global trade. Greece, in Europe’s, a Sikorsky port – one of the largest and most important ports on the Red Sea – was established after a $50 million contract was signed in 2017. Under the terms, $30 million will be spent on the new ship repair facility, while the rest will be paid by the company, which has expanded to Dubai Maritime City (DMC) from Al Jaidah. The new facility became recently operationally active to deliver the same safety standards and quality services as the previous shipyard.