Long-Term Projects Highlight: Gender Equity and Inclusion

Beyond short-term initiatives, Transworld actively collaborates with NGOs on long-term projects, driving sustainable community impact through financial and capacity-building support. Here, we highlight some of these initiatives.

Empowered Women. Sustainable Livelihoods. Stronger Communities.

Transworld is supporting 2 programs on women livelihoods in Ramanathapuram district of Tamil Nadu since 2022 to build not just better income, but also confidence and economic independence among women.

Blue is the New Pink - Livelihoods through Seaweed Cultivation

In partnership with Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham, women across four coastal villages are turning seaweed into a new source of livelihood while contributing to healthier marine ecosystems. Women are trained in seaweed cultivation, value-added seaweed product development and marketing through self-help groups.

Weaving Change - Livelihoods through Palm Leaf Craft

In partnership with Sri Dhanvanthri Ashramam Trust, a traditional craft is being transformed into a source of income and opportunity for women. Women are trained in product development, and business skills, organized into producer groups for market linkages through exhibitions, digital platforms, and retail partnerships.

Impact across the two projects since 2022...

2,200+ women trained in seaweed cultivation & palm leaf craft

70% (1,600+) of trained women continue to engage in livelihoods

340+ women groups formed for collective marketing

Women earning monthly income of up to INR 14,000
